EXPORTS FROM CONNECTICUT BUSINESSES TO GROWING CARIBBEAN MARKET;
JAMAICAN AMBASSADOR TO THE UNITED STATES DELIVERS KEYNOTE ADDRESS

Hartford: Seeking to encourage more Connecticut businesses to enter a major growing export market, Secretary of the State Susan Bysiewicz today hosted a Caribbean Trade and Investment Summit Friday October 2, 2009 in the north lobby of the State Capitol in Hartford. The event began with a breakfast and networking session at 8:00 a.m. A lunchtime keynote address was delivered by the honorable Anthony Johnson, Ambassador of the Republic of Jamaica to the United States of America.

“The Caribbean is the third largest U.S. export market in Latin America with over $20 billion worth of U.S. products and services imported each year,” said Secretary Bysiewicz, Connecticut’s Chief Business Registrar. “We hosted the Caribbean Trade and Investment Summit together with the U.S. Department of Commerce, the Metro Hartford Alliance, and Caribbean Trade Council in order to offer networking and matchmaking between U.S. companies and decision makers from four Caribbean governments. Even in this challenging economy, exports from Connecticut are growing at record levels and we want to make sure small businesses from our state take advantage of this dynamic, emerging market.”

Representatives from the U.S. Export Import Bank, the Overseas Private Investment Bank, as well as the U.S. Commercial Service’s Caribbean office were available for counseling sessions and meetings. Additionally, Jamaican Ambassador to the US Anthony Johnson hosted a luncheon; Senator Chris Dodd and EXIM Bank board of directors member Diane Farrell hosted an evening reception.
